Praise for Karen McCall's work:

"... if it wasn't for Karen, would I be doing what I'm doing now?"

"Karen McCall is THE pioneer authority in helping people overcome underearning, overspending, and chronic debting... and is my long-time mentor. She was one of many professionals I visited in those early desperate days of my own financial crisis. She was, however, the only one who told me I was an "underearner". Initially I balked at the accusation. But she broke through my denial, and I became her client... then her student. I often wonder, if it wasn't for Karen, would I be doing what I'm doing now?" -

"Training with Karen McCall is the best investment I've ever made."

"To say that training with Karen McCall is the best investment I've ever made is an understatement - the process she created is phenomenal, both in how it teaches people to take control of their finances, and how it gets to the root of deep-seated emotional blockages around money.... The skills and self-confidence I gained from training with Karen allowed me to open my own financial counseling practice and create a thriving business. I've been successfully self-employed, making great money for over 18 years now - and my clients' lives have truly changed as a result of the powerful Financial Recovery process." - Mikelann R. Anytime you earn, spend, borrow, save, win or lose money, you are relating to money, giving meaning to it, and feeling something from it.

In this talk, Karen will share how you can feel excited to look at your bank account, confident about your cash flow, and finally be on an upward financial spiral—all on your own terms.

The day you leapt into entrepreneurship, you knew there would be real risks and rewards awaiting you. And like most entrepreneurs, it probably didn't take long for you to experience the thrills and challenges—the highs and lows—that come with being your own boss.

You were ready to step up for the obvious tasks: finding clients, bringing in enough income, managing your time, and putting yourself out there.

But then there's the part no one warns you about... being in charge of your own income brings you face-to-face with your unique relationship with earning, and your deep feelings about money.

For many people, the holiday season is a mad rush of spending too much time, too much energy, and too much money. We start the holidays with dread and end them in debt – and it's no wonder: for months, we are bombarded with advertisements and peer pressure to buy more, spend more, and do more.

In this talk, Karen will walk you through the ten steps you need to create your own holiday spending. Imagine what the perfect holiday might look and feel like from both a financial and an emotional viewpoint where you achieve the goal of having a more balanced, meaningful, and debt-free holiday.
